Dr. Demetrios “Jimmy” Kiritsis was born and raised in Hartford, Connecticut USA in 1966. At the age of 11, his parents moved back to Athens Greece where he joined the the American Community Schools of Athens. Jimmy spent 7 years at ACS and graduated in 1984. His interest in English, Communications and Sports led him to the American College of Greece where he earned his Bachelor's degree in English Literature and a minoring in Communications in 1989. Feeling not quite complete with his studies, Jimmy decided to apply to King's College London and complete his Master's Degree in English Literature. Upon his return in 1990, Jimmy commenced work at the first ever European University branch in Athens as an Assistant Director in charge of logistics (payrolls, recruitment, interviewing prospective teachers, payments, teaching, logistics, orders, etc.) Attaining as much experience as possible, he left after a year to chase one of his dreams, which was sports.

After 4 aspiring and memorable years, he managed to earn his PhD in Physical Education & Sport Management from the University of Loughborough UK. During his four-year tenure there, Jimmy utilised his time constructively in becoming a licensed soccer coach by the English Football Federation (Preliminary/Preparatory Certificates 1993), taught University level courses to his fellow colleagues, and presented findings of his research at a Sports conference in Komotini Greece, compiled with highly appreciated professionals. Jimmy also played soccer at the highest level for the University making first team selection out of 100 players.

Upon his final 'educational' return to Greece in 1996, he began work at the University of Indianapolis Athens Campus, where he held many positions simultaneously throughout his 4 years there, beginning with Assistant Director of Admissions, Director of Academic Advising, Leader of the MBA Development Project, and finally Sports Director. There he created the first ever Sports Department, organising and coaching three teams, Men's Soccer, Men's Basketball, and Woman's Basketball. Being an Assistant Professor for the University, Jimmy delivered courses in Public Speaking, English, Business Communications, Sports Management, Radio Broadcasting, Group Dynamics, and Marketing.

Jimmy made his way into the business world in 2000 where he joined Globaltraining Athens as a Deputy Executive Director. He was instrumental in the formation of the company from its establishment to its growth and maturity. Here Jimmy was mainly occupied with the organisation matters of the business, sales, recruitment, marketing strategy, quality reviews, career consulting to clients, as well as teaching specific courses for the ACCA. At the time, Globaltraining was the first organisation in Greece to offer structured course programs leading to prestigious professional qualifications such as the ACCA, CFA, CIA and DipIFRS.

In 2008, Jimmy joined PwC and specifically the PwC Academy. He was mainly engaged with the previous descriptions mentioned above, but in reality he was one of the two (the other his brother) who fabricated the Professional Qualifications Department from the beginning. Jimmy carried out his responsibilities as the Business Development & Studies Coordinator in addition to teaching. Subsequently, and after three very productive years at PwC, the same PQ department was set up at the American College of Greece in 2011, where Jimmy was appointed Director of Professional Qualifications. Once again, the main occupation was the setting up of the PQ department from its inception.

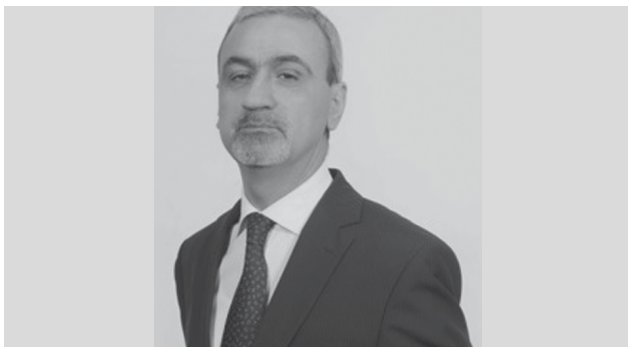

Jimmy involved himself with BCA (Business College of Athens) for 3 years as a Part-time Professor teaching Human Resource Management in Hospitality, Tourism and Creative Industries as well as Global Strategic Issues in Hospitality and Tourism Management to final year students. He was solely responsible in creating the Syllabus/Outline for the 'People Management' course regarding the new Master's program for Plymouth University (collaboration with BCA).

In 2012, Jimmy joined forces with Doukas School (Greek Private High School) where he was employed for close to two years. There he held the positions of G.C.E Director, Higher Education Adviser, and Scholarship Committee Director.

Since 2014 he is the Deputy Executive Director for StudySmart. StudySmart is a unique educational organization that offers training opportunities, master classes, articles and research findings on professional qualifications, professional designations ("designations" being the term widely used in the USA), certifications and selected expert programmes.

Jimmy has taught various ACCA courses for StudySmart and abroad (Bulgaria, Romania, Russia, Qatar) specializing in the areas of Business & Finance in a Digital World (CIMA), and Business & Technology for the ACCA. He learned to apply techniques for Critical Thinking & Problem Solving, Teamwork & Collaboration, and Leadership Essentials.

Jimmy has developed into a motivational trainer and a charismatic speaker throughout the years, with close to 10.000 hours of teaching, providing educational support and advice to students, as well as career consultation to business professionals. He is considered a "guru" in the procedural aspects of professional qualifications (ACCA, CIMA, CFA, DipIFR, CIA). Jimmy served as President of the ACS Alumni Association for four years.
